

XM radio is very visionary and, besides offering high quality entertainment, it provides a very broad spectrum of information vital to my daily life. The Rupert Murdocks and Fox Networks of this country should keep their hands off this classical example of free speech.